

PRETTY GIRL HELD ON CHARGE THAT SHE IS A BURGLAR

Said to Have Crossed an Airshaft to Rob Neighboring Apartment.

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE.

Victim Declares She Saw Suspect Wearing Stolen
Watch and Chain.

A thin, sallow, big-eyed girl, wearing a blue serge hobnob frock and a large, modish black straw hat, stood in the Harlem Police Court today and heard unmoved a charge of burglary read against her and the direction of the Magistrate that she be held without bail for examination to-morrow. She is Jeannette Schlosberg, twenty years old, the daughter of Leo Schlosberg, a well-to-do leather merchant of No. 123 Fifth avenue.

It is charged against her that she planned a robbery and accomplished it by stepping across a three and a half foot airshaft from the fourth story of one apartment house into another and co-operated with another girl to dispose of the loot in a pawnshop. It was for the purpose of finding the pawnbroker and learning the name of the girl who complicit that Detective McDonough asked Magistrate McQuade to adjourn the case until to-morrow.

The burglary took place three weeks ago yesterday and Jeannette Schlosberg was captured last night after a three day chase. The complainant is Katherine Silverberg, also twenty years old, who lives in the flat on the fourth floor of No. 1303 Fifth avenue, directly across the airshaft from the Schlosbergs. The stolen jewelry comprises a watch and chain, a bracelet and several other articles valued at $150.

STARED AT AS HE RETURNED FROM A WEDDING.

"The evening before I was robbed," Miss Silverberg said, "I had been to a wedding across the street and had worn all my jewelry. I didn't know the Schlosbergs, although she lived next door—it's practically the same house—but coming home that evening she was on the stoop and I noticed that she looked at me hard as I passed. She stared at the jewelry and I remember thinking that what big eyes she had."

The next night, several hours after we had gone to bed, papa heard a noise like the window on the airshaft opening—has been living in the place seven years and never had any trouble, so we never looked at the window—but he didn't think much of it and we went back to sleep. In the morning I found some one had been in there and taken my jewelry from the sideboard in the dining-room, and I told mamma I was sure Miss Schlosberg had taken it, because I remembered how she had stared at me."

NEIGHBOR SAYS SHE SAW GIRL
STEPPING ACROSS.

The next morning the Silverbergs were strengthened in their suspicion. Mrs. Louis Frank, whose flat windows at No. 3 West One Hundred and Thirtieth street look out on the rear of the house where the Silverbergs and Schlosbergs live, called and asked Mrs. Silverberg if they had been robbed the night before.

"Why, yes," Mrs. Silverberg answered.

ed, surprised, "but how on earth did you know?"

"I saw it," said Mrs. Frank. She then related how the night before she had been unable to sleep, and sitting by her kitchen window had seen the slender figure of a girl, wearing a black skirt and white waist, step cautiously from the window of the fourth floor apartment in No. 1303 to the window of the opposite apartment at No. 1231.

"I was so frightened that she'd fall," said Mrs. Frank, "that my heart came up in my mouth, but she seemed as cool as a cucumber and just raised the window a little more and stepped in. I woke my husband and told him I had seen some one sleep-walking, but he said it was probably all right and we went back to sleep."

One night last week Miss Silverberg met Miss Schlosberg on the street, wearing the watch and chain, she says, and accused her of being the midnight burglar. Miss Schlosberg denied it and hurried on. Detective McDonough told Miss Silverberg to seize Miss Schlosberg the next time she met her. That happened last night in Fifth avenue, near One Hundred and Fourteenth street. There was a chase to One Hundred and Twelfth street, where Policeman Beasly captured the girl. She said the jewelry had been given to her by another girl, but would not tell her friend's name.

Month-End Sale in the Gimbel Subway Store

As soon as the July Month-End Sale was over we commenced preparing for this August event. Tomorrow the entire 75 sections of the Subway Store will be in complete readiness with MORE BARGAINS THAN EVER for this August Month-End Sale, as manufacturers, importers and wholesalers have accepted losses to keep their organizations intact during the dull season, and this is the final clean-up of our own stocks of Summer merchandise.

THE BEST OFFERINGS OF THE ENTIRE MONTH

This Must Be So, for This Is the Law of The Month-End Sale Everything advertised must be decidedly under-price, and everything must be materially lower in price than it has been previously during the month, even if it had been reduced in price before.
